POST OFFICE DIRECTORY 1859- EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The directory records that the Parish of Chardstock comprised about 5800 acres and that the common land had recently been enclosed. In 1851 the population was 1387. Also "The schools in this village form a main feature of it. They comprise the ordinary National School for both sexes, to which have been appended by the present Vicar an Industrial School, in which the elder girls are prepared for the various branches of domestic service, and also a Middle School for the sons of farmers and tradesmen, who are boarded and lodged on the premises. In the spring of 1859 there were nearly 50 scholars in this department. The head master is Mr Jones, C.M. of Cheltenham; second master, Mr Baker C.M. of Winchester; Miss Hoare C.M. of the Home and Colonial and Miss Matthews, matron."

POST OFFICE DIRECTORY 1875- EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The directory records that "The church of St. Andrew was rebuilt and enlarged in the year 1864, with the addition of a north aisle, organ chamber, and vestry on the south of the chancel, and a chapel for the schools: the architect was Mr. Mountford Allen, of Crewkerne, who has contrived, most ingeniously, to combine in one building the architecture of various periods; it being the wish of one liberal benefactor to this work that the east end of the chancel should be erected in what was supposed to be the style of the original edifice, destroyed many years ago, this has been carried out in a very beautiful three-light lancet window, decorated with stained glass; the north side is Early Decorated, the south is left in the Perpendicular, but all combine harmoniously, while the interlacing of Bath, Bishop Lydiard, and Hamden Hill stone in arches and windows, the decorations of the chancel with marbles from Devonshire and Cornwall, and an exquisite reredos of Caen stone, ornamented with pillars, bosses and interlayings of marble, form a good specimen of modern art; the tower contains a peal of 7 bells and a clock. The parish register dates from the year 1590. The living is a discharged vicarage, yearly value £400, with residence and 22 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held by the Rev. George H P Barlow M.A. of Brasenose College, Oxford. All Saints ecclesiastical parish was formed out of the parishes of Chardstock and Axminster. The church, erected in 1845 [incorrect - All Saints Church was consecrated 23.4.1840], consists of chancel, nave, and turret with 1 bell. The living is a rectory, yearly value £300, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held by the Rev. Charles Woodcock M.A., late student of Christ Church, Oxford. There is a National school connected with the parish church, and one at All Saints. The charities for distribution amount to £90 yearly. The principal landowners are Lord Henley, who is lord of the manor, and John Churchill Langdon and Richard Thornton West Esqs. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and apples. The soil is clay in parts. The area is 5,618 acres; rateable value £7,395; gross estimated rental £8.850; the population in 1871 was 1507; the population of All Saints parish is 533”.

Parish Clerk: Robert Deem
 Post Office: William French, sub-postmaster. Letters are received from Chard at 7.10 a.m.; dispatched at 5.10 p.m. The nearest money order offices are at Chard & Axminster.
 Letter Box: Tytherleigh, cleared at 5.50 p.m.
 Insurance Agent: West of England, W French.
 Schools: National, Miss Susan Hawkins, mistress
 All Saints, Miss Mary Bramfield, mistress; Miss H Newbury, infants’ mistress.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1889 (DORSET EDITION) - EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The directory records the rebuilding of St. Andrew's Church as per the entry in the Post Office Directory of 1875. The living of St. Andrew's was recorded in 1889 as a discharged vicarage, net yearly value £300, with residence, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Frank Parham M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. The charities amount to about £100 yearly, derived from Mead's and White's charities left in land and funded property, the former distributed by feoffees who are copyholders of the manor, the latter distributed by the vicar and churchwardens. The old Court, now the property of Lord Henley, exhibits numerous traces of Early English and Norman architecture, some portions of the present building, with what is now a barn, being upwards of six hundred years old, and presumed to have been the summer palace of the Bishop of Salisbury. The area is 5,089 acres; rateable value £7,301; the population in 1881 was 1,328; the population of All Saints parish is 485.

Chardstock, All Saints is an ecclesiastical parish, formed out of the parishes of Chardstock and Axminster, part of the parish being in Devonshire. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value £280, including 40 acres of glebe, with residence, and held since 1875 by the Rev. Charles Woodcock M.A. late student of Christ Church, Oxford, and prebendary and canon of Salisbury. Letters through Axminster, which is the nearest money order & telegraph office, arrive at 8 a.m.

Wall Letter Box: Smallridge, cleared at 5 p.m.
Sextons: Charles Seward and Richard Frome

Post Office, Chardstock: William French, sub-postmaster. Letters are received from Chard at 7.20 a.m. & 5.10 p.m.; dispatched at 7.25 a.m. & 5.45 p.m. The nearest money order & telegraph office is at Chard. Postal orders are issued here, but not paid.

Wall Letter Box: Tytherleigh, cleared at 5.30 p.m.
Schools: National (mixed), built in 1830, for 150 children; average attendance 100; Miss Emily Brazier, mistress.
All Saints, rebuilt in 1870, for 110 children; average attendance 86, Miss Matilda Beale, mistress; Miss Frances Seward, infants' mistress.

Police Station: Joseph Elliott, constable-in-charge.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1895 (DORSET EDITION) KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1897 (DEVON EDITION) EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

In 1896 the Parish of Chardstock was transferred from the County of Dorset to Devon. As a result, it appeared in both the above editions of Kelly's. Although dated two years apart the entries for Chardstock are identical, so it should be assumed that the information is correct to the earlier date of 1895.

The general introduction is basically a repeat of the Post Office Directory of 1875 and the previous edition of Kelly's for 1889. However, some information has been revised, as recorded below.

The living of St. Andrew's was recorded in 1895 as a discharged vicarage, average tithe rent-charge £312, gross yearly value £342; net £270, with 65 acres of glebe and residence, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Frank Parham M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. The charities still amounted to about £100 yearly, the area remained unchanged at 5,089 acres and the rateable value was still recorded as £7,301. In 1891 the population of the civil parish was 1088 and of All Saints parish was 444..

The living of All Saints was a rectory, average tithe rent-charge £105, gross yearly value £256; net £193 including 33 acres of glebe, with residence, and held since 1875 by the Rev. Charles Woodcock M.A. late student of Christ Church, Oxford, and prebendary and canon of Salisbury. Sextons Johan Seward and Richard Frome.

Post Office, Chardstock: William French, sub-postmaster. Letters are received from Chard at 7.20 a.m. & 5.10 p.m.; dispatched at 7.25 a.m. & 5.45 p.m. The nearest money order & telegraph office is at Chard. Postal orders are issued here, but not paid.

Wall Letter Boxes: Tytherleigh, cleared at 5.30 p.m.
Hook, cleared at 8.30 a.m. and 6.15 p.m.
Smallridge, cleared at 5 p.m.

Schools: National (mixed), built in 1830, for 150 children; average attendance 100; Walter Bowdon, master
All Saints, rebuilt in 1870, for 110 children; average attendance 86, Miss Matilda Beale, mistress.

Police Station: Samuel Bishop, constable-in-charge.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1902 (DEVON EDITION) - EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK*The introduction/overview of Chardstock is recorded in full below:

CHARDSTOCK is a parish and village, on a peninsula, between the counties of Dorset and Somerset, and was transferred from Dorsetshire to Devonshire by a Local Government Board Provisional Order Confirmation (No. 3); it is two and a half miles west from Chard Junction station, on the London and South western railway, three south-south-west from Chard stations on the Great Western and London and South Western railways, four north from Axminster, and nine and a half north-west from Lyme Regis, in the Eastern division of the county, Axminster petty sessional division, hundred of Beaminster Forum and Redbourne, Axminster union and county court district, rural deanery of Bridport (Lyme portion), archdeaconry of Dorset and diocese of Salisbury.

The river Kit runs through the village and joins the river Axe at Axe farm. The church of St. Andrew, formerly consisting only of chancel and nave, was rebuilt and enlarged in 1864 by the addition of north aisle, south porch, organ chamber, and vestry, a chapel and a western tower containing 7 bells and a clock with Cambridge chimes: the chancel, designed in the Early English style, has a stained east window of three lancets, and a reredos of Caen stone; the north side is Early Decorated, and the south Perpendicular: there are sittings for 600 persons. The parish registers date from the year 1590, and are in excellent preservation. The living is a discharged vicarage, net yearly value £245, with 35 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Frank Parham M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. The charities amount to about £100 yearly, derived from Lady Mead and White's charities left in land and funded property, the former is distributed by feoffees who are copyholders of the manor, and the latter is administered by trustees appointed by the Parish Council.

Chardstock Court, now the property of Lord Henley, and occupied as a farm house, exhibits numerous traces of Early English work. Bowditch House is the residence of Capt. William King J.P. and Chardstock House of Edward Stanhope Rodd Esq. J.P. The principal landowners are Lord Henley, of Watford Court, Northampton, who is lord of the manor, John Churchill Stuckey Langton Esq. of Parrocks Lodge, Chard, and T D Eames Esq. The soil is chalk and clay in parts. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and apples (apple trees being sent to all parts of Great Britain), and some land in pasture. The area is 5090 acres of land and 9 of water; rateable value £7,483; the population of the civil parish in 1891 was 1075, and of St. Andrew ecclesiastical parish 914.

Alson, one mile south; and Tytherleigh, half-a-mile south-east, are hamlets in this parish; letters for Alson and Tytherleigh, through Chard. Crowley was for civil purpose annexed to Membury by Local Government Board Order 15.947 March 24, 1884.

Sexton, William Seward.

Chardstock All Saints is an ecclesiastical parish, formed out of the parishes of Chardstock and Axminster. The church, erected in 1840, is a plain building of stone consisting of chancel, nave and a western turret containing one bell: there are 200 sittings. The register dates from the year 1840. The living is a rectory, net yearly value £216, including 33 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held since 1898 by the Rev. James Hugh Pearson M.A. of Hertford College, Oxford. The population in 1891 was 444. Sexton, John Larking. Letters received through Axminster.

Post Office, Chardstock: William French, sub-postmaster. Letters are received from Chard at 7.20 a.m. & 5.10 p.m.; dispatched at 7.25 a.m. & 5.45 p.m. Postal orders are issued here, but not paid. The nearest money order office is at South Chard and telegraph office at Chard, 3 miles distant.

Wall Letter Boxes: Tytherleigh, cleared at 5.30 p.m.

Hook, cleared at 8.30 a.m. and 6.15 p.m.

Schools: National (mixed), built in 1830, for 150 children; average attendance 91; Arthur James Stubbington, master
Chardstock All Saints, rebuilt in 1870, for 110 children; average attendance 70, Miss Matilda Beale, mistress.

Police Station: James Small, constable-in-charge.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1914 - EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The introduction to the 1914 directory is essentially the same as for 1910, except that some of the figures had changed.

The church of St. Andrew's is still described as a discharged vicarage in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury with a net yearly value of £259, but the glebe lands had been reduced to 20 acres. The incumbent was still the Rev. Arthur Lewis M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford and the Sexton continued to be William Seward.

The parish is still recorded as being of 5353 acres of land and 9 of water, but the rateable value had dropped to £7112. The population of the civil parish in 1911 was 1033, and of St. Andrew ecclesiastical parish 850.

The living of All Saints is unchanged in 1914, but was vacant at the time the directory was being compiled. The population in 1911 was 417. In 1914 the Sexton was still John Larcombe. Letters still received through Axminster at 7.30 am and 6 pm with no Sunday delivery.

Post & Telegraph Office,
Chardstock:

Thomas Parris, sub-postmaster. Letters are received from Chard at 6.50 a.m. & 5.05 p.m.; dispatched at 8.55 a.m. & 6.15 p.m. No Sunday delivery. South Chard, 3 miles distant, is the nearest money order office.

Wall Letter Boxes:
(week days only)

Tytherleigh, cleared at 6.00 p.m.
Hook, cleared at 8.05 a.m. and 6.30 p.m.
Birchill, cleared at 8 am and 6.05 pm.

Public Elementary Schools

Chardstock (Mixed): Built in 1830, for 150 children; average attendance 118; Francis King, master
The above school is controlled by six managers; Rev. A Lewis M.A. correspondent.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1919 - EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The introduction to the 1919 directory is essentially the same as for 1910 and 1914, except that some of the figures had changed. It does, however, record that the Manor of Tytherleigh now belongs to the Rev. F E W Langdon M.A. and was purchased by his ancestor in 1729 from Robert Tytherleigh, the last of the Tytherleighs of Tytherleigh; also that Isaac Lisle Smith is now Lord of the Manor of Chardstock.

The living of St. Andrew's Church is not changed from 1914, the incumbent is still the Rev. Arthur Lewis M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford, but the Sexton is then John Pearce.

The parish is still recorded as being of 5353 acres of land and 9 of water, but the rateable value had dropped considerably to £5567. The population of the civil parish in 1911 was 1033, and of St. Andrew's ecclesiastical parish 850.

The living of All Saints is unchanged in 1919 and since 1914 has been held by the Rev. Gerald Henry George Goddard B.A. of St. Edmund Hall, Oxford. The population in 1911 was 417. In 1919 the Sexton is Richard Clarke. Letters for All Saints are still received through Axminster at 7.30 am and 6 pm with no sunday delivery.

The introduction/overview of Chardstock is recorded in full below:

CHARDSTOCK is a parish and village, on a peninsula, between the counties of Dorset and Somerset, and was transferred from Dorsetshire to Devonshire by a Local Government Board Provisional Order Confirmation (No. 3); it is three miles west from Chard Junction station, on the Southern (late London and South Western) railway, three south-south-west from Chard stations on the Great Western and South railways, four north from Axminster, and nine and a half north-west from Lyme Regis, in the Eastern division of the county, hundred of Beaminster Forum and Redbourne, petty sessional division, union and county court district of Axminster, rural deanery of Bridport (Lyme portion), archdeaconry of Dorset and diocese of Salisbury.

The river Kit runs through the village and joins the river Axe at Axe farm. The church of St. Andrew, formerly consisting only of chancel and nave, was rebuilt and enlarged in 1864 by the addition of north aisle, south porch, organ chamber, and vestry, a chapel and a western tower containing 7 bells and a clock with Cambridge chimes: the chancel, designed in the Early English style, has a stained east window of three lancets, and a reredos of Caen stone; the north side is Early Decorated, and the south Perpendicular: there are sittings for 570 persons. The parish registers date from the year 1597, and are in excellent preservation. The living is a discharged vicarage, net yearly value £450, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held since 1919 by the Rev. & Ven. Albert Ernest Joscelyne D.D. of Jesus College, Oxford, archdeacon of Sherborne and prebendary of Yatesbury and in Salisbury cathedral. In the village is a cross, erected by public subscription, to 14 men of the parish who fell in the Great War 1914-18. The charities amount to about £100 yearly, derived from Lady Mead and White's charities left in land and funded property.

Chardstock Court, now the property and residence of Isaac Lisle Smith Esq. exhibits numerous traces of Early English work. The manor of Tytherleigh belongs to the Rev. F E W Langdon M.A. and was purchased by his ancestor in 1729 from Robert Tytherleigh, the last of the Tytherleighs of Tytherleigh. The principal landowners are Isaac Lisle Smith Esq., Rev. F E W Langdon M.A. and T D Eames Esq. The soil is chalk and clay in parts. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and apples (apple trees being sent to all parts of Great Britain), and some land in pasture. The area is 5353 acres of land and 9 of water; rateable value £5910; the population of the civil parish in 1911 was 1033, and of St. Andrew ecclesiastical parish 850.

Alson, one mile south; and Tytherleigh, half-a-mile south-east, are hamlets in this parish; letters for Alson, through Chardstock, and Tytherleigh, through Chard. Crowley was for civil purposes annexed to Membury by Local Government Board Order 15.947 March 24, 1884.

Sexton, John Pearce.

Chardstock All Saints, two miles north-east from Axminster and two and a half south of Chardstock, is an ecclesiastical parish, formed out of the parishes of Chardstock and Axminster in 1841. The church, erected in 1840, is a plain building of stone consisting of chancel, nave and a western turret containing one bell: there is a mural tablet erected in memory of 17 men connected with the parish who fell in the Great War 1914-18: the church has 200 sittings. The register dates from the year 1840. The living is a rectory, net yearly value £235, including 33 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held since 1914 by the Rev. Gerald Henry George Goddard B.A. of St. Edmund Hall, Oxford. The population in 1911 was 417.

Sexton, Richard Clarke. Letters received through Axminster.

Post T. & T. E. D. Office, Mrs. Elizabeth Searle, sub-postmistress. Letters are received from Chardstock Chard. South Chard, three miles distant, is the nearest money order office.

KELLY'S DIRECTORY 1930 - EXTRACTS RELATING TO CHARDSTOCK

The introduction to the 1930 directory is the same as for 1926 with just an interesting addition concerning the bells of St. Andrew's Church, viz. "there are six bells in the peal, and an old bell, on which the church clock strikes, bearing the inscription "The people to the church I call, and to the grave I summon all".

Post T. & T. E. D. Office, Chardstock Letters are received from Chard (Somerset). South Chard is the nearest money order office.
